Teste: SAMUEL P. WADDILL, Clerk.

asked the flood sufferers in the West. It is as follows:

"To the People of Virginia:

"Several of our Western States have been so stricken by storms and floods that thousands of our fellow-citizens are today homeless and suffering, and their needs call for generous help from those more favorably situated. I trust the people of this great State, upon whom the Lord has so abundantly showered His blessings, will respond liberally to this appeal and thus relieve as far as possible the sufferings of our unfortunate fellow-citizens.

"Contributions may be sent to Colonel Thomas H. McAdams, treasurer of the Red Cross, Richmond, Va., or to WM. HODGES MANN, 'President of Virginia Red Cross, March 27, 1913.'"

TORNADO STOKES WEST RICHMOND

Thousands of Dollars of Damage Done in Five Minutes by Whirlwind.

SPEED OF STORM 44 MILES

Damage Reported All Over City. Traffic and Telephone Service Paralyzed.

While a storm with a velocity of forty-four miles an hour was raging yesterday morning in Richmond, smashing windows, paralyzing traffic and telephone service, and spreading panic among wayfarers, a genuine tornado whirled over the extreme West End with destructive force and doing thousands of dollars of damage inside of five minutes.

The tornado first struck the gardens of Mann & Brown, florists, at the New Reservoir. Mr. Brown, who was out trying to protect some of his glass from the force of the wind, said that he saw an immense black funnel-shaped cloud descending upon the place at terrific speed. In another moment it had struck a large and well built greenhouse containing many valuable American Beauty roses. The half of the greenhouse struck by the cyclone, about forty feet long, was a complete wreck, the glass was smashed to bits, and the wooden framework was kindling wood, while the heavy two-inch piping which weighted and supported the structure, was crumpled and twisted. Of course, many of the valuable plants were destroyed. The other half of the greenhouse, although exposed to the full force of the regular wind, was not damaged.

Hurled Against Water Tank. The tornado then rose in the air and passed over the roofs of several other glass structures, smashing the roof plates, but getting no grip upon them. It then struck a wooden shed, about fifteen feet square, and lifted it bodily into the air, all but one wall to the height of about forty feet. There is no telling where the shed would have gone, but for the interposition of an elevated water tank, which blocked the way. Both the tank, which was made of timbers two inches thick, and the shed, were completely demolished. Some pieces of the shed were then hurled through a line of telephone wires, snapping all of them, and the pieces of timber fell in a vacant field beyond.

Mr. Brown said that it was the suction of the great air funnel which destroyed his greenhouse, which was lifted into the air and dropped in fragments. He estimates his total loss at about $2,000. The storm struck his place at 8:45 o'clock.

At 8:50 o'clock a number of workmen were engaged upon three brick houses being built by J. Lee Davis on Grove Avenue near Meadow Street, when some of them who were on the roof saw the sky darken and felt the building begin to rock. They gave the alarm, and in a minute every man was out of the buildings. It was none too soon. One of the houses was completely demolished, a second had the entire upper story taken away, and the roof of the third was damaged. The houses next door were not touched. Moreover, six houses, about three blocks away on Floyd Avenue, which were in exactly the same state of construction, were not damaged at all. Mr. Davis estimates his loss at about $2,000.

Other Damage Reported. Much minor damage was done to new buildings in various parts of the city by the general force of the wind, but in no case did it exhibit a tenth of the destructive force of the tornado which struck the West End.

The parapet walls of a new house being erected at Park Avenue and Robinson Street for R. E. Perkins, were carried away, entailing considerable damage.

Some new buildings being erected by B. H. Melton at Hanover Street and Park Avenue, and at Hanover and Elm Streets, were slightly damaged. One of the new brick work being carried away. A number of reports were made to the office of Building Inspector Butler of stories falling and windows out of their frames, and in some cases out of their houses, torn down his fence, and upset and seriously damaged, his chicken coop.

Hard Blow Down Town. The centre of the storm down town, seemed to be in the vicinity of Eighth and Main Streets, and it attained its maximum velocity of forty-four miles an hour at about 8:45 o'clock. The plate-glass window of the Bank of America was blown out, and the window was blown in and completely smashed. Several of the employees narrowly escaped being struck by the flying glass; but they quickly rallied and saved several hundred dollars' worth of merchandise which was exposed in the window.

Traffic was seriously interfered with in many parts of the city, wagons running turtle and in some instances, horses being knocked down. Police horses took shelter wherever they could find it, and for a short time there was something like a panic.

The storm originated in Eastern Texas, according to Director Evans of the Weather Bureau, and moved north and east through the Atlantic States. It was Virginia's little share of the terrible disturbances which have been occurring in the Western States.

The rain, although never continuous for any length of time, was very heavy. About four-tenths of an inch fell in Richmond between midnight and noon.

Spartanburg Generous. Spartanburg, S. C., March 27.—The citizens of Spartanburg have generously subscribed liberally to a fund for the flood sufferers of the Middle Western States, and the city has been the scene of a great appeal has been issued for further contributions to the fund.

The Red Cross. In resolutions calling for the meeting the people are reminded of the terrible suffering which has been done from the outside world following the flood in the Pacific River in 1908 when many lives were lost.

MRS. EATON INDICTED. Widow of Rear-Admiral Charged With His Murder.

Plymouth, Mass., March 27.—Mrs. Jessie May Eaton was indicted to-day for the murder of her husband, Rear-Admiral Joseph G. Eaton.

The widow, who is twenty years the junior of the naval officer, was arrested last Thursday.

The indictment charges that Mrs. Eaton placed arsenic in a cereal drink which the admiral took with his meals.

The evidence upon which the widow was arraigned revealed that much of the family life at the Eatons had been unhappy. Both had been married before.

Ride in Your Auto, 11 Given Away April 12

Candidates who put forth best efforts now will win finest prizes at end of contest

The week is almost over, and Saturday night is the time to reckon up what has been accomplished.

When you open your receipt book, how many signed stubs do you find in it? Are there enough to make you feel that you have improved every opportunity?

If not you should be more exacting with yourself. Anybody can work with a boss over him to drive him along and see that he doesn't loaf. The man who needs that kind of supervision is not the one to succeed in an independent enterprise like The Times-Dispatch's Contest.

You should be your own hardest taskmaster. It makes far more difference to you than it does to any one else whether you get a prize.

There are 75 prizes to be won on April 12. What's the use of your saying, "I have no chance." If every one said the same thing the prizes would, of course, go to a bunch of loafers but they are not. They are going to the 75 people who say most determinedly to themselves: "I am sure that there are not 75 people in the contest who will try more earnestly than I will for a prize."

These are the people they will go to, for it is the one who tries the hardest who makes the most gains in the end.

LUCK IS A SHY BIRD. It is fanciful to imagine that Luck plays a large part in such a struggle as you have here.

Of course, you may by chance meet a man whom you didn't expect to see and get a subscription from him. There may be a little luck in that, but unless you had kept your eyes open for every possible subscriber you would not have seen this man and asked him for a subscription.

The opportunities are fairly evenly scattered on the path of all, and the difference in results is due to the eagerness and perseverance with which these opportunities are grasped.

BE A PACEMAKER. If you want to distance your rivals you must be a pacemaker, and a pacemaker. Why not go a mile a minute until April 12?

That's "going some" and will put you far in the lead. If you look like a winner at the end of the second period, April 5, you will almost surely be a winner on April 12.

Very few races are won on the home stretch unless the race has been consistently run. You can make good time now with the second period vote rate, and you should try not only to break the record of others, but all of your own records so far.

The more you do daily the better you will feel on April 12. The time is not long now and you can afford to devote a good deal of it to the important work of securing subscriptions.

HOW MUCH IT TAKES TO WIN. Every candidate wishes that he or she could take a peep into the future and see just how many votes it will take to win.

We wish we could guess, but we are just as much in the dark as the candidates are.

It will take the best you are capable of—be sure of that. If you are going to be satisfied with a small prize, when you might, by a little more effort, gain one worth thousands of dollars, then you want to have to exert yourself so much, that we are tempted to tell you to take a little more time to determine to win the prize you are aiming at.

Only one candidate can really come out first in the race, but there is no doubt that the further you try to go the further you will get.

So if you determine to win the first grand prize, and succeed, you will be the happiest person in the South. If you determine to win it, and fail just below some one else, you have still a far more valuable prize for your reward than had you started out with less ambitious aims.

The way to win one of the prizes in the contest is to do your utmost to secure one of the 75 prizes which will be awarded on April 12.

Every subscription you gain during this period will be a big help at the end.

GET EXTENSION OF YOUR SUBSCRIPTIONS. Any further payment of six months on a subscription of six months already turned in on the contest on which votes have been issued is an "Extension" of that subscription. The contestant turning in the second payment of six months will receive the number of votes constituting the difference between the scheduled number of votes issued on the first payment of six months and the scheduled number of votes allowed for one year at the time the first payment was made.

Contestants are entitled to votes under this rule on "Extensions" of subscriptions, whether the former payment, or payments, were given to themselves or to other contestants.

To insure proper credit on "Extensions," make a new subscription blank for the amount of money you are sending, and write on the subscription blank the length of the "Extension," as "Extended from six months to one year."

GOULD DISGUSTED WITH PEOPLE HERE. Virtually Renounces His Citizenship When He Sails for France.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] New York, March 27.—Frank J. Gould virtually renounced his citizenship in this country to-day when he sailed for France declaring that he was disgusted with the way the United States government interfered with business.

Mrs. Gould, formerly Edith Kelly, a show girl, and her three sisters, Misses Hetty, Mabel and Matilde Gould accompanied the millionaire.

This is not the first time that Gould has voiced his preference for French customs over those of America. Since he was fined $1,000 by Judge Hough, of the United States Federal Court, on an indictment under the Sherman anti-trust law in September, 1911, Mr. Gould's love for his mother country has been decidedly on the wane.

"Long ago," said Mr. Gould to-day, "I took up my residence in France, though my domicile is in America."

The people here disgusted him, he said, and no business remains in which the government does not interfere. It is known that the abolition of horse racing here was also a blow to him. The Gould stables in Paris are valued at $250,000.

Before leaving Mr. Gould found time to give the reporters a most graphic description of the antiques he raises on his French estate. He has been awarded a decoration in the order of "Merite Agricole" by the French Minister of Agriculture, and hopes to spend a great deal of his time on his farm.
